January marked a solid start to the year, with most markets registering small gains. The US market was up 1.6%, Australia up 1.1% and bonds were flat. The Fund’s performance was buoyed by the fall in the AUDUSD rate of 3.6%.

Hedge Fund Clone strategy (20% of portfolio)

This strategy invests in stocks favoured by the World’s leading Hedge Funds.

The clone strategy was our strongest strategy this month, adding 0.9% to the portfolio. The strategy’s worst performer was TESLA(-24.6%), which was offset by strong moves in NVDA (+24.2%), NETFLIX(+15%), and ASML (+15%).

Global Asset Allocation strategy (40% of portfolio)

This system invests in the 3 strongest Global Asset classes.

A poor performance by the Real Estate portion of the strategy led to a small negative for the Global strategy in January – This was after a strong outperformance in December.

No change in the portfolio going into February.

US Sector strategy (40% of portfolio)

This strategy invests in the 3 strongest sectors of the US market.

Mixed results in the sector strategy, with Tech and Communications outperforming, and Consumer stocks underperforming. Overall a small underperformance.

No change in the portfolio going into February.

I am going to keep updating this table as a reminder of what our results would have looked like had we employed the current strategy from the beginning of the Fund’s life. Annual return would have been 13.9% pa.

Whilst past returns are no guarantee of future results, these results are exactly what I was looking to achieve when starting the Fund – Slightly better than index returns, with less volatility and drawdown. Hindsight is a wonderful thing, and it is easy to look back and go “what if”, but I do believe that we have taken the lessons doled out to us over the last few years, made the necessary adjustments, and are much stronger due to that going forward!
